

General Questions for a Beta Reader

(Authors should tailor this according to their needs.)

Were you able to get oriented into the story rather quickly with minimal confusion?

If you were confused, please say why?

Did the story capture your attention from the beginning?

Did you find the protagonist to be relatable?

Were there one or two stand-out characters?

If so, what did you like or dislike about them?

Were the character relationships believable?

Did the dialog seem realistic? If not, please point out problems.

Was it always clear who was speaking? If not, please point out where it was unclear.

Did you have any problem with the timeline?

Did the chapter endings make you want to read the next chapter?

If there were places where you wanted to know more, please point them out.
